Orlando-BFC Development Corporation, the development arm of Battaglia Group, is pleased to announce the ground breaking of their first Publix anchored shopping center, located at Golden Eagle Boulevard and US Highway 27 in the Four Corners area of South Lake County, Florida. The project will consist of a 45,600 square foot Publix store, 18,450 square feet of local shops and three outparcels. The planned opening for the shopping center is June of 2011.

Kelsey Construction, Inc. has been selected as the general contractor and began construction in late July, 2010.

The project was designed by Ray Scott of the Scott Partnership Architecture, Inc., and engineering services were provided by VHB Miller Sellen.

Financing for the development is being provided through the Orlando office of Wells Fargo Middle Market Real Estate, a division of Wells Fargo & Company, and was brokered through a joint effort by Doug Rozzell of Thomas D. Wood & Company and Mark Findura of Carlisle Realty Group, LLC.

Leasing and outparcel marketing of the project is provided by Bob Barkett of DJB Land Company.

Development services for the project will continue to be provided by Fred J. Hohnadel, while Fred Bostrum of FJB Realty Partners Inc. will handle construction management.
